Itinerary

A clear breakdown of each day of the trip.

DAY 1Kathmandu - Jantardhap (93480 ft / 2850 m)

Your guide will pick you up from your hotel in Kathmandu by Jeep. After breakfast before 7:00 AM, drive for approximately 7–8 hours through Bhaktapur, Dhulikhel, Mulkot, and Ghurmi. Enjoy lunch at Ghurmi before continuing along the scenic mountain road to Jantardhap, where you will spend the night.

Located at around 2,800m, Jantardhap is a peaceful village in the lower Solu-Khumbu region and a gateway to the Pikey Peak Trek. The area is known for beautiful Himalayan views, red rhododendrons in spring, snow-covered landscapes in winter, and the nearby Changesthan Devi Temple.

DAY 2Trek to Jhapre (73480 ft / 2250 m)

Today, you begin your trek through peaceful mountain trails, with occasional sections following the newly constructed road. The scenic route passes through colorful rhododendron forests and sub-alpine vegetation, while offering beautiful views of the foothills of the Himalayas. Along the way, you will pass through valleys with steep hillsides covered in traditional terraced fields of potatoes and vegetables, giving you an authentic glimpse into the rural Sherpa way of life. Enjoy a relaxed 5–6 hours of trekking, taking plenty of time to appreciate the peaceful surroundings and mountain scenery.

Jhapre is a charming village inhabited by Magar and Sherpa communities, with around 10–15 traditional houses and teahouses. The village is home to an old Buddhist monastery and two stupas, reflecting the strong Buddhist traditions of the local people. If a puja ceremony is taking place during your visit, you may have the opportunity to observe or participate. On a clear day, Jhapre also offers impressive views of Mount Everest and Numbur Himal, making it a beautiful and culturally enriching stop on the Pikey Peak Trek.

DAY 3Trek to Pikey Base Camp (11,942 ft / 3640 m)

From Jhapre, the trail gradually ascends toward a grassy ridge at Bhulbhule, where a small lodge offers beautiful views of the surrounding Himalayan peaks. The trail then splits, and you take the right-hand path toward Pikey Peak. Along the way, you pass traditional yak huts and a long Mani Wall, before following the trail beneath Taklung Danda through a beautiful wooded landscape. In spring, the forest comes alive with colorful rhododendron blooms, adding to the charm of the journey.

After leaving the forest, you continue along the scenic trail and reach Pikey Peak Base Camp in approximately 2 hours. The base camp has a couple of comfortable Sherpa teahouses where you can rest, enjoy a warm meal, and spend the night surrounded by peaceful mountain scenery.

DAY 4Early morning ascend Pikey Peak 4065m for Sunrise view and Trek to Junbesi (3,550m)

Start your day early with a gradual climb toward Pikey Peak Summit (4,065m), marked by colorful prayer flags and surrounded by spectacular Himalayan scenery. On a clear day, the summit offers an incredible panoramic view stretching across the Himalayan range, with distant peaks from Annapurna to Kanchenjunga visible on the horizon. Take time to enjoy the breathtaking scenery and capture unforgettable moments before beginning your descent.

From the summit, descend through a beautiful old-growth forest toward Taktor. The trail follows a scenic ridge before taking a steep shortcut near Jase and joining the historic Jiri–Everest Base Camp trail at Taktor. From here, continue for another couple of hours along a peaceful forest trail to reach Junbesi, one of the most beautiful traditional Sherpa villages in the region.

Pikey Peak is also widely associated with Sir Edmund Hillary, who is said to have admired the mountain views from this area. Standing at the summit and looking across the vast Himalayan panorama, it is easy to understand the appeal of this remarkable viewpoint.

Junbesi Village is a picturesque Sherpa settlement surrounded by magnificent mountains and rich Buddhist heritage. The village is home to important monasteries, including Junbesi Monastery and Ngagyur Serpon Lungri Sedrup Zungdelling Monastery, decorated with colorful prayer flags, prayer wheels, and traditional Buddhist artwork. Despite its traditional character, Junbesi offers modern comforts such as Wi-Fi, hot showers, and a variety of food options, making it a welcoming and memorable stop on the Pikey Peak Trek.

DAY 5Excursion to Thupten Chholing Monastery

After breakfast, take a short and peaceful hike from Junbesi to Thupten Choling Monastery, located on the hillside above the village. Spend time exploring the monastery and its serene surroundings before returning to Junbesi for a relaxed afternoon.

Thupten Choling Monastery is a renowned Buddhist retreat and monastic community founded by Kyabje Trulshik Rinpoche in the 1960s. Located in the Solu-Khumbu region, the monastery is home to a large community of Buddhist nuns dedicated to spiritual practice, meditation, and maintaining the monastery. The peaceful atmosphere, prayer flags, traditional architecture, and surrounding Himalayan landscape make Thupten Choling a meaningful cultural and spiritual highlight of the Pikey Peak Trek.

DAY 6Trek to Phaplu 2380m

After breakfast, begin your descent along the scenic trail beside the Junbesi Khola. The path gradually leads through beautiful mountain landscapes until you reach a steel suspension bridge. Cross the bridge and continue toward Beni Ghat, enjoying the peaceful surroundings and changing scenery along the way. From Beni Ghat, follow the trail toward Phaplu, where you will spend your final night in the mountains at a comfortable mountain lodge.

As this is your last evening in the mountains, it is a wonderful opportunity to celebrate the completion of your trek with your trekking crew. Gather together for a small farewell celebration, share food and drinks, and reflect on the memorable journey.
